

Craig Carroll

Classical Guitarist

“Craig Carroll is an excellent guitarist with great tone and feeling in his playing”

Dr. Benjamin Bolt

Years of study, the best of teachers, Performing experience, talent and passion must all combine to yield a master classical guitar performer.

Craig Carroll has spent a lifetime combining these into a performer you will be amazed and enthralled to hear.

Unique among guitarists, Craig has applied Time and motion study methods to improve his techniques, studied the mechanics and techniques of the masters, and enlisted non-guitar professional musicians to broaden his knowledge and skills in music interpretation and performance knowledge.

During his studies Craig distinguished himself as the most exceptional of students winning scholarships to international master classes and becoming a requested performer for these events. He has performed for over 50 international masterclasses and studied in over 300 with some of the greatest luminaries of the classical guitar world.

Craig’s performance experience is varied and extensive ranging from concert series, chamber music series and festivals both small and large, as well as church series and corporate venues and in countries as far away as Japan.

He has been a featured artist as a recitalist, soloist and workshop teacher in many events such as the ones listed:

- Historic Rugby Festival
- Virginia Highlands Festival
- Wine over Water Festival in Chattanooga
- The Philadelphia Guitar Festival
- 1st Methodist Concert Series (Marion N.C. multiple performances)
- Cathedral of St. Philip Sunday Recitals
- Tunes at Noon Summer Concert Series (Bristol TN. multiple performances)
- Morristown Chamber Music Series (multiple performances)
- 1st Methodist Fine Arts Series Morristown TN.
- KORGS Recital Series Knoxville TN. (Multiple performances)
- East Tennessee Classical Guitar society (multiple performances)
- Music at the Rose Concert series at Rose Center for the Arts.

Craig has performed in many types of venues including pit orchestras for Broadway shows, radio performances and interviews and has taught artist residencies master classes, seminars and individual lessons.
